The event demonstrates the Company’s dedication to Environmental, Social and Governance (“ESG”) and community well-being.

The Company provided the venue for free to facilitate the event. In collaboration with Klinik Trupulse and Spectrum Heroes Care Centre (“Spectrum Heroes”), LSH Property co-organised the blood donation activity and provided free medical checkups for elderly individuals (aged 60 and above) and those with disabilities. The blood donations collected will go directly towards helping local hospitals and healthcare facilities to meet the urgent demand for blood, benefiting those in need across the community. By providing free medical checkups to the elderly and persons with disabilities (“OKU”), the Company hope to promote wellness and preventive care for these vulnerable groups, ensuring they receive regular health assessments and are empowered to take charge of their well-being.

In the joint event, Klinik Trupulse and Spectrum Heroes shared their commitment to improving lives through healthcare and special education.
